To Whom it May Concern:

It is my pleasure to write this letter on behalf of Aagaard-Juergensen. We selected Aagaard-Juergensen as our general contractor for our Walt Disney World Branch that we opened in March of 2008. The project was a 25,000 square foot facility constructed in the Pine Hills community.

From the moment that we selected Aagaard Jurgensen, their team was responsive, communicative and attentive to our needs. Their team understood that we needed to build a first class facility within the established budget without compromising the quality environment that we envisioned for the children we serve. The Aagaard team not only understood our capital constraints, they embraced the project and provided a very high level of personal attention. A few examples include helping secure our old building (which was replaced) after break-ins; accommodating numerous donor tours, and working closely with donors and community partners on special projects, deadlines and special events.

We were also constructing the facility with children near the active construction site and it was critical that a strict set of guidelines be adhered to that assured our members safety. We were very pleased with the attention this paid to this important aspect by all sub-contractors.

Communication was always proactive and clear with our volunteers, our architect and others related to the project. Aagaard was also very respectful of our staff on site as well as the staff member assigned to oversee the details of the project. Our lead staff person on the project was a female and she was always made to feel very comfortable and respected in what has traditionally been a "man's world."

It is my pleasure to recommend Aagaard-Juergensen for construction projects. We will have them on the shortlist of contractors to interview and consider for future projects.

Sincerely,

Gary W. Cain
President
